Third Circular for ICES21

Extension of Deadline for Call for Panels

Dear Potential Participants of ICES21,

We would like to inform the potential panel organizers that we have decided to extend the deadline for the call for panels to May 17, 2022.

We'd also like to take this opportunity to remind you that this is a call for panels, not for individual presentations. Panels are sub-groups of several presentations on a common theme, and all of the presentations would take place in one of the panels. Following the selection of the panels, a call for abstracts (for individual presentations) will be issued (expected to be early July 2022).

For details on panel submission, please refer to the second circular:

Despite the fact that we have already received many interesting panel proposals, we are looking forward to receiving more panel proposals on a variety of topics! Please contact the organizing committee at ices21@aau.edu.et if you have any questions.
